

God has a plan for your life

God's main plan for your life is to spend eternity with Him in heaven as His friend.

All He plans for us in our life is designed to help us achieve this Satan's main purpose is to destroy our relationship with God so that we will not spend eternity with God in heaven.

God has prepared a path for your life from before creation for you to walk in under the guidance of The Holy Spirit

On this path is every good thing God has for you as well as all you need to prepare you for eternity in heaven

All you need to do is obey Him and He will make it all come to pass.

When you stray from this path you will have problems and trials are His way of bringing you back to this path as well as maturing you while you walk it.

Each member has their own individual life plan prepared for them by God from before creation, to mature them to the image of the Character of God as well as to prepare them to live forever with God in His Kingdom.

Before you were born, God had prepared a path for you to follow in your life on which is everything you need to live and serve Him in the way He desires you too.

On this path is every good thing He has for you.

Trials are designed to move you further along this path, mature you or to bring you back to it. So be thankful for trials as they are working for your good in some way.

God promises you will never be tried beyond what you can endure (1Co 10:13).

Matt 6:33

God promises to provide everything you need physically and spiritually to make Him the focus of your life and to be able to love and serve Him in the way He desires you to do these.

What King does not want to benefit His subjects when they are completely devoted and loyal to Him in all they do. The good King supplies your actual needs and not what you think you need. If you obtain anything (mental, spiritual, or physical) He does not want you to have, it will cause you problems in some way and distract you from fully doing His Will (Matt 6:33).

God provides the physical needs but the spiritual ones depend on our obedience and desire to serve Him which is why they alone are the subjects of prayer and blessing in The New Testament as we express our desire to serve Him or for others to grow spiritually so they can know Him better and serve Him better.

Obey God, seek Him and His purposes and let Him provide what you need for today and in the future and you will not be distracted from His purposes seeking things that you do not need.

Serving God.

Do not worry about serving God. As long as you are doing what He requires you to do you are serving Him. It is not necessary to see a result of your service. Indeed, you may not see any result of the service in your life on earth as in reality all we do on earth prepares you for eternity and so what you are going through will be to prepare you for eternity or be bringing you back to the path you need to be on to get to heaven.

Remember, the primary purpose of a Christian is to obey God. It is from this that all else flows that God requires of you and has for you.

We often desire to do things for God and are frustrated when we are not able to do these things for Him. If God desired us to do these things for Him, He would have prepared us to do them and prepared them for us to do. So, to desire to do more for God than he asks you to do will only cause frustrations and possible depression.

Remember, you are to do what God asks you to do and not what others say you should be doing.

It is for God to decide what to do for Him and not us. Sometimes He will use us to prepare something for another to use, another time, we will use something someone else has used to prepare something for us. Or another time we will both prepare and use things. It is up to God to determine what we are to do and our part being; do what he says, no more, no less and to trust Him for what happens.

To be able to obey Him you must know what He requires of you (seek God) and be in a proper relationship with Him (seek His Righteousness) and then all you need will be given to you (added unto you).

Doing things

When you do something, you need to ask four questions:

Does it do the Will of God?

Does it declare The Kingdom of God?

Does it give Him Glory?

Does it show His Love?

Note the last one. Without God's quality of Love expressed in an action, even if only as an automatic expression of it in you, it will not serve the purposes of God.

Be always Joyful

God is in control of everything, there are no accidents with God, and in everything He is working for what is best for you out of His love you.

Why are there trials? There are at least four reasons trials:

To show your love for him by persevering in the trial and by this judging Satan because you, who have not seen God love him in spite what happens when Satan, who has seen God, rejected him.

To draw you back to where you should be your Christian walk when you have slipped off the path God has prepared for.

To prepare you great deeper relationship with Jesus and the Father so that God can use you for greater service.

To show Satan you are worthy of the relationship you have God and the ministry God has given you as well is all that flows from that relationship and ministry.

As you can see, God is working for your good even when things seem hopeless. Remember He is building you for eternity and not to please the requirements of a world controlled by Satan.

So, when things go wrong, be content, God is in charge working for your best regardless of what appears to be happening.

Doing the small things well

I had decided I was doing nothing worthwhile for Jesus and found life hard. He had stopped my writing, my prophesying and my ministry of deliverance leaving a big hole in my life with no purpose of eternal significance. So, I got depressed and figured life was not worth living if I was not doing anything for The kingdom, of God.

Now I realise that this was to teach me an important lesson that there is no such thing as Ministry as we define it.

All our service is to The Lord and at times to others on His behalf. Ministry, as defined in churches, is a made Concept the devil promoted and hides the truth of our service, It implies service has to be to another by one qualified to minister and does things, for them for a spiritual purpose of Jesus, even if be only meeting their needs. Jesus showed me that ministry was different.

In everything we do we serve Him and sometimes He asks us to serve others on His behalf. We (serve) minister to Him and the consequences of this at times is service others but not always.

This means whatever we do for Him, even if it is a mundane thing we are doing it is important. Because we are being a good steward of what He has given us to care for Him (after all God owns everything and we are just steward of things) we are serving The Kingdom an expressing it, even if only angels and demons see it.

By obeying Jesus and doing all things in an ordered way (because He is a God of order) we are good stewards of His things and serve Him (minister to Him), giving Him honour because His Principles are worth to be followed and He is worthy to be obeyed and by this we judge Satan and his angels who disobeyed Jesus and ignore His values.

As you do the mundane, boring things of life in the way Jesus desires you to do them you are serving Him and demonstrating His Kingdom, it is not necessary for any of the result of this service to be seen on earth by another.

Something people would consider to be mundane and/or boring like washing up, vacuuming, mowing the lawn, doing the family accounts etc., as long as these things are done because you want to do them the way Jesus desires you to do them, you demonstrate The Kingdom of God, worship Him and bring Him Glory and you are doing something of eternal value to Jesus and this makes it all worthwhile.

The Cost of following Jesus (Phil 2:5 12)

You need to have the same attitude as Jesus and think the way He did which caused Him to come to earth and die. Out of His Love for us. He ruled the universe and owned everything but humbled Himself and gave up every Honour and position He had and took the form of those He created, and was ruled by them. He obeyed God in all He did, even though He knew it would cost Him His life.

He knew all this was going to happen but still came to earth knowing those He had given life to those were going to kill Him.

Because He was so obedient and did all God asked Him to do, God gave Him, as a reward, the highest place in creation so every living thing (person demon, animal), would have to admit He was The Christ and Lord of all. In all this God The Father was given Glory. Jesus taking none of it for Himself.

Everything He had as God. authority, possessions, relationships, were all left behind. On earth, He did not hold onto earthly, authority or possessions, but grasped the eternal ones that were waiting for Him as a reward for what He was going to do on earth. He followed the values of God in all He did and rejected the worldly values and things Satan offered Him.

We are told in this passage to follow the example of Christ and obey God in all things and not because people are looking at us as we obey so that we will have the approval of them but not of God. This correct obedience is how we 'work at our salvation' that is maintain our side of the salvation relationship we have with The Father and Jesus. We do this because God is working for our best in all that happens to us so we should not complain about what we have to suffer to do His Will.

This is especially so when we look at what Jesus had to give up and suffer for us out of obedience to God.

Our real motivation in obeying God is love for God because of what he has done for us. I was once complaining to the Lord and He said something that has stopped me complaining any more. He said:

When you have given up a universe to go to a planet taking nothing you formerly had with you and then allow yourself to be rejected by those you tried to help and then be put to a cruel death by those you had created, then complain.

So, what conclusions can we draw from what Jesus gave up:

No relationship is worth holding onto

Nothing is worth owning or keeping

No values, attitudes or mindsets are worth having

No position of authority is worth maintaining or obtaining if having or holding onto it will stop you doing God's Will or learning to relate to Him better.

The rewards for obedience in the next life, apart from the ones of having a relationship with Jesus and The Father as well as getting to heaven, are far superior to anything we will have on earth and will never decay or be corrupted like they will on earth. Jesus thought this and He is our example to follow.

We need to love God and others with the same quality of love with which He Loves us. If we do this, we will truly be a follower of Jesus.

Holiness to The Lord is necessary

Your life should now be focused on God and His requirements of you. Holiness means to wholly set yourself apart (focus solely on Him and His Will for you) and obey Him in all you do. If He is Lord, you will do this. If He is not Lord of an area of your life, then you may need further deliverance or repentance (stop doing something He does not want you to do) in in an area of your life.

Remember, it is your responsibility to do all you can to learn about God and His requirements of you so that you can be better a citizen of His Kingdom and serve Him better and appreciate His love and Mercy more.

Focus in life

What is your focus in life?

If it is Jesus is your focus, you will be guided by The Holy Spirit in all you do and you will always consult Him as you do things so that you know you are doing them the way Jesus desires them to be done. Whoever is your spiritual guide will be whom you follow. If it is Jesus then you will follow Him. If it is the denomination, you will follow them.

Today is the first day of the rest of your life.

It is still not too late to prepare for eternity, to turn away from those things that God does not approve of in your life and turn to His things. After all, earth is God's preparation ground for spending eternity with Him, so you need to get it right. You only have one chance and after you die it is over. There is a saying: "It does not matter whether you win or lose. It is how you play the game that matters,"

Or in a Christian perspective:

It does not matter whether or not you do great things for God but only how you did them for Him. You could be the greatest failure in the eyes of the world, but in the eyes of God you could be one of His greatest success stories. It will all depend on how much you focus on His Will and obey it which be a result of how much you Actually love or fear Him.

God does not judge you for the results of what you do but, on the attitudes, you had in doing it.

Remember this is as you go through life so you will have a correct perspective on what you do for God,

According to how much you trust God's Love and Control will be how you deal with what He allows to happen to you.
